

As we move into April and begin the transition into a new program year, one thing remains constant—advocacy does not stop. The wave we've built this year doesn't crash at convention; it keeps moving forward with each of us.

This is the time to stay engaged, finish strong, and carry that momentum into the next year.

As you plan upcoming events—whether it's a membership drive, membership appreciation event, or kicking off summer festivities like Memorial Day—remember that every gathering is an opportunity to grow our impact.

Bring advocacy with you.

Have your QR code for Action Corps Weekly ready to go and encourage members, families, and your community to sign up. It's one of the simplest and most effective ways we can expand our reach and ensure more voices are heard when it matters most.

Every scan is another person joining the wave.

Every sign-up strengthens our voice.

Every action helps us better serve our veterans.

We are not slowing down—we are building forward.

Let's continue to ride this wave together and ensure that as we transition into the new program year, we do so stronger, louder, and more connected than ever.

In service,
Becky
