Forget the resolutions for 2026. Resolutions are easy to break, instead make commitments, pledges or oaths, keep them simple, nothing beyond your actual abilities. For example my commitment for 2026 is to live the motto of “we wear Red on Friday to Remember Everyone Deployed”.

Simple, impactful and attainable, so I can challenge each of you to share with me your RED Friday gear. Tag me, email me and show me so I can share. Each of our “reason’s), was once deployed, and while we may or may not have had the opportunity to wear RED, we can for those who are currently serving away from home. I am blessed at this moment in time to have all my sons back in the US, but as they were deployed I honored them while they were in places I couldn’t go. I have a cousin who has a son currently beyond her ability to physically be together, as a blue star mother, she has found it helpful to her to not only wear the RED but to see others do the same.

So wear it proudly, share on your pages and with the members of your community to support our men and women currently serving.
